A Christmas Carol

A performance of 'A Christmas Carol' in September!

It's hardly seasonal, yet due to a scheduling

cock-up, the ladies of The Farndale Housing Estate Townswomen

Guild Dramatic Society press on with their show regardless.

These Thespian stalwarts - experienced actors, all dedicated to their craft - rally to the clarion call to invoke the spirit of great stage actors of the past to bring a flawless production of Dickensian artistry.

Or do they? Missed cues, in-fighting between the actors, stage props going crazy, a sound engineer asleep

at the helm, all combine to create a perfect storm of the worst

Dickens classic imaginable.

Of course, the Farndale production itself is all an act, hilariously played by the good members of the Kirby Players.

It takes some skills to get things so helplessly wrong, so this talented cast and crew are not lacking using every trick at their disposal to make a hilarious spoof.

So sit back and enjoy a good laugh with the Kirby Muxloe Players in their 80th Anniversary year!
